

If we let Sinclair get away with this, we may as well close down the FCC! What's the point of a federally funded agency that either serves, or is powerless to control, corporate media?